

Primavera of the night

she stands
upon an owl's back
as it flies

its white wings
rise and fall
around the paleness
of her thighs

she is a Primavera
of the night
and her eyes are closed in dreams
of ever undulating flight